

Living Cost Index At Peak; Wage And Price Freeze Near

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mariner S. Eccles today urged a 44-hour work week, "without overtime pay," a general wage freeze and limited price controls as anti-inflation measures.

Eccles, a member of the federal reserve board and chairman until deposed by President Truman three years ago, gave his ideas to the Senate-House Economic committee at Capitol hearings.

Meanwhile the economic stabilization agency was reported working on general price and wage freeze orders, expected to be issued in the next 24 hours. They may come late today but more probably some time tomorrow.

Open To Bargaining
Adding pressure for swift government action was a rise in its cost of living index to a new peak. Well-placed officials predicted prices would be pegged at Jan. 2 levels and paychecks at current wage rates—but with leeway for some workers to do considerably more bargaining.

The bureau of labor statistics reported that its cost of living index hit a peak on Dec. 15, when it stood at 178.4 per cent of the 1935-39 average. The Dec. 15 index was 1.6 per cent higher than that of Nov. 15.

A climb of 6.5 per cent in consumers' prices occurred during 1950 up to mid-December, all but 1.6 per cent of it after the beginning of the Korean conflict. Higher prices were reported for all the major groups of items which make up the budget of the moderate income family.

Pay Boosts Possible
The rise between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15 was led by a 2.8 per cent advance in food prices. That was the greatest move in the index in any one month since September 1947.

Even before imposition of the projected price-wage controls, Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) said the wage plans, as outlined yesterday by Chairman Cyrus S. Ching of ESA's wage stabilization board, are not strict enough "by any means."

Ching told the committee yesterday the policy now being drafted would permit "quite a bit of flexibility for collective bargaining." Some pay boosts, he indicated, probably will be allowed

Vice Wide Open In New Orleans

Senators Open 2-Day Crime Inquiry

By KEITH FULLER
NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, here to inquire into crime, says the New Orleans area is "wide open."

Arriving last night for a two-day hearing, the Tennessee Democrat said "this is the first time I've found everything running wide open when I arrived except at Las Vegas, Nev., where gambling is legal."

The senator had just come in from the airport, a 12-mile ride along the night-spot-lit highway. Gaudy neon beckoned with glittering fingers toward the Casinos on the outskirts of New Orleans.

The senator's committee expects to bring into the open the city's imbedded vices of gambling, racketeering, prostitution and the narcotics traffic.

Kefauver announced the first witness to be questioned today will be Mayor deLesseps Morrison "to get a general picture of conditions here."

The committee will call ten witnesses, he said, during the day—the first of the scheduled two-day hearing.

Also on the list are former District Attorney Hervey Radvich; Criminal Sheriff John Grosch; Jimmy Moran, a French quarter cafe man and former bodyguard for the late Gov. Huey Long; and Phil Kastel, operator of the Beverly Country Club in nearby Jefferson parish.

Dead In Blaze

At Fairbanks, Alaska, At 53 Below Zero

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — (AP) — One man burned to death as fire and 53 degrees below zero temperatures struck Fairbanks again yesterday.

Sorely pressed firemen battled four fires which broke out almost simultaneously, just two days after a $500,000 blaze had destroyed three downtown business houses Monday.

Victims of today's fires was George Burmeister, about 50. He died in a fire which destroyed a two-story log boarding house.

Firemen were hampered by a lack of hose. Much hose was frozen deep into the street after the Monday night fire.

The town still is trying to pick and shovel its way out of the ice that sheathed streets after Monday's fire.

New U. N. Proposal To End Korean War Coming Up Today

By A. I. GOLDBERG

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—Seven months to the day that the Korean war began, a new Arab-Asian proposal to settle the conflict comes up in the United Nations political committee today.

Sir Benegal N. Rau of India, spokesman for the 12-nation group, planned to take the floor shortly after the 60-nation committee resumed its work to argue for a resolution to set up a seven-nation conference, including Communist China and Russia, to discuss the Korean and other Far Eastern problems.

Cease-Fire Avoided
The resolution ducks specific mention of a cease-fire. The Indian delegate was also ready to argue that the group resolution—its fourth peace move—should take precedence over the United States demand that the U. N. brand Communist China as an aggressor in Korea and consider what steps should be taken against Peking.

U. S. delegate Warren Austin underscored the American demand when the committee came back yesterday after a 48-hour recess. He revived old charges that Russia, as well as Red China, was responsible for the Korean aggression. In much of what he said, he discounted the newest Arab-Asian group move.

Answer To Nehru
His statement also was considered a direct answer to Prime Minister Nehru of India, who is a broadcast from New Delhi yesterday criticized the American resolution and said Communist China should long ago have been made a member of the U. N., supplanting Nationalist China. "You can't shoot your way into the United Nations," Austin said in detailing Red China's fight against U. N. troops.

Austin added that the question of U. N. membership was one for all 60 members of the U. N. to consider, not just seven nations. He emphasized that in the face of Communist actions and demands—which he called blackmail—the U. N. had to "give some thought to the issue of collective security."

Annual Session Bills Debated

Lansing Legislators Split On Proposals

LANSING—(AP)—The Michigan Senate and House split up the middle today over whether to hold a full-dress legislative session every year, or limit every other year to fiscal and emergency matters.

The cleavage ran through both chambers during debate yesterday and the subject was scheduled for more argument today.

Senator Harry E. Little (R-East Lansing) was battling to save his proposal for a limited session in the even-numbered years against opponents who wanted an unlimited, full-dress session.

In the House, Rep. Louis A. Cramton (R-LaPeere) was fighting to save his proposal for an unlimited, full-dress session in the even-numbered years against those who wanted a limited session.

Rep. Andrew Bolt (R-Grand Rapids) stalled the house measure until today to prepare an amendment which he hinted would limit the even-year session as to length. Senators Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) and Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) prepared amendments which would remove all restrictions on Little's measure in the senate.

Under the present constitution, the legislature meets for a full-length session starting in January of the odd-numbered years. The governor may call a special session at other times and limit the subjects to those of his own choosing.

Coogan On Wagon

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—(AP)—No liquor for one year, the judge said in granting probation to one-time child-actor Jackie Coogan, 36, on misdemeanor drunk driving charges. Coogan pleaded guilty in police court yesterday. He was fined $150.

Allied Patrols Fail To Make Enemy Contact

U. S. Planes Plaster Towns Behind Line

TOKYO—(AP)—A Red-hunting Allied armored patrol late today re-entered Hoengsong on the snow-carpeted central Korean front, but found no quarry. There was mounting speculation that the Chinese Reds had quietly pulled out on the central and western sectors. United Nations patrols elsewhere on the front encountered only a relatively few Red Koreans.

Nobody Home
It was the second straight day Hoengsong was entered by a U. N. patrol. AP Correspondent Tom Stone reported the Reds had fled. Hoengsong is 10 miles north of Wonsu and 33 miles south of Parallel 38.

There was no enemy contact Wednesday night except for a minor patrol clash near Yoji, 40 miles southeast of the abandoned South Korean capital of Seoul. A few Korean Reds were encountered in the same general area, north of Kumsang and Ichon.

U. S. intelligence officers said the apparent absence of Red troops in force south of the Han river, which twists around Seoul, may mean the Chinese have made a large-scale withdrawal to the north.

There was speculation that the Chinese are awaiting political developments in the United Nations, meanwhile using Red Koreans to patrol the No-Man's Land into which U. N. patrols have been poking all week.

But Allied air power gave the Reds no rest far behind the lines. Warplanes plastered military targets throughout North Korea. The town of Chunchon was wrecked.

More Russian-type planes were thrown into the air with Yak night fighters attacking American B-26s on night intruder missions Wednesday night. It was one of their few appearances in the Korean war. No damage was

Hudson Ties Wages To Cost Of Living; Contract Extended

DETROIT—(AP)—Hudson Motor Car Co. adopted the now-popular escalator wage system today, leaving only one auto producer whose pay rates are not hitched to the cost of living.

Hudson and the CIO United Auto Workers also extended their two-year contract, now only six months old, to five years, and agreed on a guaranteed four-cent hourly wage boost for each of those years.

An immediate one cent an hour pay hike also was granted, thus putting Hudson's 23,000 employees abreast of more than 600,000 workers at General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and other firms where the escalator system is used.

The estimated average wage at such firms now is $1.78 an hour.

France Names Juin Military Boss; Red Blasts At Ike Flop

PARIS—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower left by plane today for Iceland's sub-arctic capital of Reykjavik, continuing his survey tour of Atlantic pact nations and their plans to defend western Europe against Russian Communism.

The general's plane left only field at 8:55 a. m. (2:55 a. m. EST). "Ike" made no statement before his departure.

France marked the end of his visit by naming a top military man to head all of her armed forces—a move the new supreme Atlantic pact commander reportedly had urged.

General Gets Results

Gen. Alphonse Juin was appointed to the new post of inspector-general of French armed forces. He also keeps the post to which he was appointed in 1947—French resident-general in Morocco.

Russia Sounded Out On Big 4 Meeting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States, Britain and France will soon open talks to determine what specific issues should be taken up in any meeting with Russia, aimed at easing world tensions.

Diplomatic officials said the three western powers have decided such talks should be held starting even before it is known whether the Russians will agree to acceptable terms for a big four conference.

Three Notes Sent
The first of the preliminary discussions among the western nations is expected to be held when French premier Rene Pleven comes to Washington Monday. Detailed conversations, however, probably will be carried on by British and French ambassadors here with the state department.

Meanwhile, American officials were on the whole uncertain today whether the Russians would respond favorably to the latest western request for an explanation of what they are willing to discuss in any big four get-together.

The request was presented to Moscow Tuesday in identical notes from the three western powers. The text of these notes was made public in Washington, London and Paris last night.

Will Moscow Agree?
The western governments asked, essentially, two questions:

1. Is Russia willing to agree that any meeting of the four power foreign ministers should discuss a wide range of critical issues which presently inflame relations between the west and the Communist bloc?

2. Will Russia also agree that these issues should be talked over in a preliminary way by four power representatives below the rank of foreign minister?

If the Russian reply is "yes" with no strings attached, the western governments have told the Kremlin they are prepared to join with Russia in setting a date for "the exploratory meeting of representatives" in Paris. Willingness of the United States to have the meeting in Paris is a slight concession. This government had suggested earlier that both the preliminary and full dress sessions be held in the United States.

If Russia does not make a clear answer or attaches undesirable conditions—for example, if she requests that Communist China take part in any far eastern subjects—then the diplomatic sparring probably will go on with more note exchanges.

Manpower Pool Buildup Pushed

Delay Asked In Draft Of 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House Armed Services Committee was reported today considering a plan to put off drafting 18-year-olds until the 19-to-26 manpower pool is exhausted.

An influential committee member who asked that he not be named said such a provision might be written into the manpower bill on which the group is conducting hearings.

In the meantime, Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg returned to Capitol Hill to continue her testimony in support of the measure. It calls for lowering the draft age to 18 and extending the period of service from 21 to 27 months.

Ralph W. McDonald, a spokesman for the National Education Association, opposed the drafting of 18-year-olds. He proposed instead that the mental and physical standards for acceptance into the armed services be lowered.

McDonald told a Senate preparedness subcommittee yesterday the defense department plan it carried into effect would force many colleges and universities to close their doors and would "strike at the very heart of our system of education."

Hide Prices Rolled Back To November

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The office of price stabilization today rolled back the price of hides, to the highest levels of last November.

This was the second price control order in the present emergency. The first was a roll back of automobile prices a month ago.

Price Control Director Michael V. DiSalle issued today's order, which is effective Jan. 29.

Goes To Prison

GRAND RAPIDS—(AP)—Kenneth A. Basso, 30, of Ironwood, was sentenced to a six-year prison term Wednesday by Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr for breaking into the Ironwood post office and stealing two checks from the mails. Basso previously had pleaded guilty.

Triplets Arrive

JACKSON—(AP)—Mrs. Marvel Kirk, 24, gave birth to triplets—two girls and a boy—in Foote hospital Wednesday. She is the wife of Orland Kirk, a sheet metal worker. Mrs. Kirk is the mother of four other children by a previous marriage.

January Carrot Harvest Turns Up Big Profit

Newaygo Farms Dig Crop Out Of Snow

GRANT, Mich.—(AP)—There's always something new under the sun.

In this winter month of January a carrot harvest is going on in Newaygo county.

Growers here are finding it vastly more profitable than if they had harvested the crop last fall, the season when carrots are normally harvested.

Church Gets Out
The Grant Reformed church, widely known in West Michigan as the "Little White Church in the Swamp," also stands to gain.

Many growers, grateful for a carrot revenue estimated up to three times what it would have been last fall, will turn over part of the proceeds to the church.

This spring the church expects to move into a new home.

American economics is at the bottom of the January carrot harvest.

At last fall's usual harvest time, carrots in the Grant area were bringing only about $10 a ton.

Growers Disgusted
That wasn't enough to pay for the harvesting. Many disgusted growers just left them in the ground and went deer hunting instead.

In January prices took a turn for the better. Growers seized the opportunity. They put light bulldozer blades on their tractors, plowed the snow off the carrot rows, and plowed out and harvested the crop.

The crop's condition was perfect. No topping was necessary. And the carrots sold for as high as $30 a ton. Processors as far away as Austin, Ind., took them.

Draft Standards To Be Lowered

Rejected Men Will Be Re-Appraised

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg disclosed today the defense department is going to lower its physical and mental qualifications for military service "as far as security will permit."

She made the disclosure to the House armed services committee, which is currently hearing warm arguments for and against the proposal to draft 18-year olds.

Later, Mrs. Rosenberg told reporters that the 799,000 men who have been rejected by the draft for mental and physical reasons will be re-appraised.

Mrs. Rosenberg estimated that under the planned lowering of standards, the armed forces could take in about 150,000 limited service men.

She told the committee, however, that if standards are lowered appreciably it would be wise for Congress to consider new pension liability.

Blood Typing Gets Under Way At Soo

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich.—(AP)—A special laboratory has been set up here to process blood samples and speed up the project to type the blood of residents of the strategic Soo area.

In the first three days of the program, more than 1,300 persons have been typed to provide records for a living blood bank in event of atomic bomb attack. It is planned to type the blood of at least 20,000 of Chippewa county's 28,000 residents.

Blood-typing has been completed at one major industrial plant and teams of doctors and nurses planned to start taking blood samples at another plant today.

Outline Delta Cancer 'School'

Education Program Is Planned For 1951

A public informed is a public forewarned, believes the Delta county unit of the American Cancer Society.

Through its educational program the Cancer Society is prepared to present informative material to any group or individual requesting it, according to Mrs. John Anthony, educational chairman.

Mrs. Anthony today announced the appointment of Mrs. Oliver Fuller as head of radio contacts, Mrs. Karl E. Gray, films, Mrs. James R. Fitzharris, schools, and Mrs. H. L. Holderman and Mrs. Ray Knudson as speaker's bureau members for the educational committee.

Literature concerning cancer has been sent to groups, clubs and other organizations in Delta county and approximately 400 have already viewed films on cancer so far this month in Rock, Cornish, Nahma and Escanaba. Three Cancer Society-owned films are available in Escanaba to interested groups requesting them, and a fourth is available on loan. An arrangement for the exchange of additional films has been made.

Active in the fight against cancer, the Delta county unit was the first in the state to have an educational exhibit. Last year 20,000 pieces of educational literature on cancer were distributed at the U. P. State Fair in Escanaba.

Mrs. C. L. Harrison is commander of the Delta county unit of the American Cancer Society; Henry Boyle of Bark River is president; Carl Wickman, treasurer; and other personnel include: Mrs. William Harrison of the county health department; Dr. Thomas E. McInerney, Medical Society representative; Dr. William E. LeMire, medical advisor; Dr. Roy Johnson, Medical Society representative.

Mrs. E. J. Noon of Escanaba is secretary; Mrs. F. W. Schmitt, dressings chairman; Mrs. Frank Butler, service chairman; Mrs. John Anthony, education chairman for the county; Mrs. L. W. Olson, city education chairman; and Tom Goedert, Trades and Labor Council representative.

Township chairmen are Mrs. Edward Trombley and Mrs. Bernard Pruska, Gladstone; Mrs. Earl Kaiser, Escanaba; Mrs. Ray Teal, Bark River; Mrs. Walter Mantie, Rock; Mrs. Ted McFadden, Cornish; Mrs. Henry Vandanker, Flat Rock; Mrs. Kenneth Scott, Rapid River; Mrs. Henry Sargent, Nahma; Mrs. William Casey, Wells; Mrs. Clayton Norden, Perkins; and Mrs. Frank Beaudry, Escanaba's western area.

Hasty Marriages Pave Way To Divorce Court, Delta Records Reveal

That hasty marriages bring repentance in the divorce court not only paraphrases an old saying but is statistically supported by Delta county marriage-divorce records.

More marriage knots were tied and untied back in the first post-war year of 1946 than in any year in the county's history. Records reveal 471 couples married to the altar the first year the boys were home from war, and 94 couples obtained a court decree to untie the marriage knot.

Since then the marriage and divorce rate has been declining until it is again at about the pre-war level of 309 marriage licenses issued and 42 divorces granted.

Two Annulments

The spur of the Korean war has again increased the number of license applications, with the possibility that marriages in 1951

Cortisone Reaction Gives Science Clue To Prevent Polio

NEW YORK—(P)—The New York Times said today experiments on animals have shown that the hormone cortisone makes the animals much more susceptible to polio.

The Times, in an article by William L. Laurence, said the experiments are "regarded by authorities as opening the way at last to a means for preventing the onset of the disease."

The experiments, the Times said, were described by Dr. Gregory Schwartzman of Mount Sinai hospital in the current issue of the proceedings of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine.

Dr. Schwartzman, the Times said, began the tests after observing that pregnant women were more susceptible to infantile paralysis than non-pregnant women of about the same age.

Since pregnancy causes secretion of larger amounts of cortisone, he began to test the effect of cortisone on the resistance of animals to the disease, the Times said.

He found, according to the newspaper, that when Swiss mice and hamsters were injected with cortisone along with injections of polio virus, the progress of the disease was speeded up and the effects were greater.

The Times said Dr. Schwartzman also discovered that some other adrenal gland factor, still unidentified, counteracts the cortisone's effect.

Fishermen Plan For Convention

Fish Producers Meet At Traverse City

Escanaba district representatives of the Michigan Fish Producers association are preparing to attend the annual convention of the organization to be held Jan. 23-30 at Traverse City, according to Melvin Jacobsen, newly elected district president.

Commercial fishing problems at the state and national level will be considered by the association at its meeting, Ray Adair of Munising, president of the state-wide organization, has announced.

Formation of a legislative program for the 1951 session will be one of the important items on the Fish Producers agenda. Representatives of each district will be called upon to present recommendations of the fishermen of the various districts. This program will be presented to the full convention for adoption or modification.

Regulate Trap Nets

Proposals to the convention have already been considered by the Escanaba district of the association, according to Roy A. Jensen, immediate past president of the district. These recommendations include the following:

That the legal size of walleyes permitted to be taken by commercial and sports fishermen in the northern Green Bay area be the same, as determined by the conservation department and of a size older than one-year spawned age.

That the opening and closing of the season on walleyes and suckers be the same.

That trap nets may not be set in water less than 20 feet in depth in open waters of Little Bay de Noc. Regulation of trap nets in Big Bay waters also is proposed.

Sports Fishing Area

That each commercial fishing boat be limited to not more than 10 trap nets in Michigan waters of Green Bay.

That an area from Portage Point to Ford River be closed to commercial fishing except through the ice, and that a similar restricted area be established in Big Bay de Noc from Porcupine to Valentine Point, both for the benefit of sports fishermen.

Officers of the Escanaba district besides President Jacobsen are Secretary Phil Olson and Treasurer Walter Olson.

Expected to attend the Fish Producers association convention besides the district officers are Jensen, Henry Dahm, Earl Johnson, Clifford Roberts, John Hanson, William Tornovish, and a delegation from the Gardine peninsula area.

Bonifas Sawmill Burns At Pickford

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—A tool shed at the Bonifas Lumber Mill, near Pickford, was destroyed by fire Sunday night, about 5:00 o'clock, it was learned today. The mill is owned by the Bonifas Lumber Co. of Marquette, and employs approximately 10 to 15 men.

Chief Tignor Shoberg of the Pickford volunteer fire department, believes the fire may have started when a small oil stove used to heat the tool shed exploded. The actual cause of the fire has not been determined, he said.

The gladiolus is regarded as the flower for August and the peridot or sardonyx as the jewel for that month.

Motorist Hits City Police Car, Pays $50, Costs

Harold K. Stewart, 172 N. Cedar street, Manistique, had the misfortune Wednesday of bumping into an Escanaba police patrol car at the intersection of 14th street and Ludington and this morning Stewart paid a fine of $50 and costs for drunk driving. His license also was revoked.

Stewart's car slid off the police car and then struck another car driven by Jack Nimzinsky, 225 N. 14th street. The police car and Nimzinsky's car were stopped awaiting a change in the traffic control lights.

Stewart agreed to pay for the damages to the police car and Nimzinsky's car. Neither was extensively damaged.

Patrolman Ray Jensen was driving the police car at the time of the mishap.

Autoway Loses $170 To Burglar

Cashbox Smashed By Intruder

The Autoway Equipment Co., 1022 No. 21st street, was broken into Wednesday night or early Thursday morning and $170.01 in currency was stolen from the cashbox.

The intruder gained entrance by breaking a panel in an overhead door. He smashed the cashbox to steal the money but left the checks undisturbed.

Asselin Purchases Menominee Concern

NORWAY, Mich.—The Asselin Creamery Company of Norway has purchased the business of the Lemire Ice Cream Company of Menominee, which has been operated by Louis Lemire for the past fourteen years.

Asselin's have been operating in the Menominee-Marquette area for the past two years, new territory to be added because of this purchase will be Lena, Oconto and Peshtigo, Wis. All of Asselin's products will be manufactured in their Norway plant and distributed in that area by two refrigerated trucks.

Asselin's products are now distributed throughout the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and five Northeastern Wisconsin counties. A fleet of twenty trucks are required to distribute their products throughout these areas.

Road Problems Meeting Called

Hold U. P. Session Here Feb. 7-8

Field personnel of the state highway department in the Upper Peninsula will meet in Escanaba Feb. 7 and 8 for a discussion of general road construction problems, it is announced by Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Construction, survey, soils and design personnel will attend the session, one of three to be held in the state. Only field personnel not attending will be those who remain in their districts to carry on necessary construction work during the period of the meetings.

Meetings of this kind are held annually during the winter months when construction work is light. The purpose of the meetings is to better acquaint highway employees with new methods of design, survey and construction and to discuss other problems relating to highway development.

In Escanaba about 100 will attend sessions to be held at the court house and the evening banquet Feb. 7 at the House of Ludington.

Cooks

DesJardin-Sturdy
COOKS—Miss Rita Marie DesJardin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon DesJardin of Cooks and Robert Clarence Sturdy of Gladstone Route One were married in a double ring ceremony performed by Father Bissette January 20 at St. Mary Magdalene church at Cooks. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sturdy.

Pink and white chrysanthemums decorated the church for the service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore ivory slipper satin with an illusion neckline, charmingly lace peplum and a long train. Her veil was gathered to a seed pearl coronet. She carried pink roses and baby mums and a crystal rosary, the bridegroom's gift. Her maid of honor, Miss Beverly Sturdy, wore mist green with a matching Juliet cap and she carried yellow daffodils and baby mums.

Elroy DesJardin was best man. Mrs. DesJardin wore a rust colored dress with green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Sturdy wore a kelly green suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The wedding dinner was served at the Knights of Columbus hall in Manistee, followed by a reception for 200 guests.

The newlyweds will live in Groos. The bride, a graduate of Cooks high school, has been employed by the Escanaba Glove Co. Mr. Sturdy who is an Escanaba high school graduate, is with Sturdy Brothers Mink Ranch.

Wedding guests included Bernice Williams, Fred Cass, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gardner, Mrs. Richard Craig, Mrs. Esther Couillard, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frappier, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Trotter, Mrs. Isabelle LaCrosse, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ostlund, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wawirka, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Way, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barron and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Sovey, Flat Rock, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffmann and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Richards, Milwaukee; Solomon DesJardin, Tucson, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, Rapid River; Charles Camps, Mr. and Mrs. James Krutina and James Weberg, Nahma.

And you ought to do this, whatever the car you own today—and whatever the car you expect to own.

For it will lift up your spirits and add to your faith in America's industrial enterprise and productive ingenuity.

You look at those beautiful, flowing lines—and you can't escape the conviction that America's industrial artistry in metals is unsurpassed in all the world.

You look at the fabrics that tailor the seats and cushions—and you realize that America's manufacturing genius is unapproached for bringing luxury into everyday life.

Stoll Testifies At CAB Hearing

Nationwide Airlines Service Is Praised

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Martin L. Leacock, assistant attorney general of Michigan, said Tuesday direct plane service between the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan is of prime importance to residents of the state.

He testified at a hearing before a civil aeronautics board examiner on an application by Wisconsin Central Airlines for a five-year extension of its license.

Praises Nationwide Line
The line now operates in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Upper Michigan and Illinois.

Leacock criticized operation of Wisconsin Central in the Upper Peninsula. He said at one point that he did not want the line to continue to operate there "if that is the best they have done so far."

Later, however, under cross-examination by Harold Scott, counsel for Wisconsin Central, he said he had no objection to renewal of the application if it did not "hurt the chance of direct service between Upper and Lower Michigan."

Leacock praised the operation of Nationwide Airlines which operates an intra-state service between the two peninsulas.

Wisconsin Central and Nationwide each have an application on file for authority to provide service to connect the lower peninsula.

Charles E. Stoll, Escanaba, Mich., business man said he did not believe there was sufficient use made of Wisconsin Central by persons in the Upper Peninsula to warrant its operation there.

Cites 'Poor Service'
Mario Fontonna, Iron Mountain, Mich., gave similar testimony. He said he represented the Upper Peninsula Air Transportation committee, which has been critical of Wisconsin Central.

Fontonna said Wisconsin Central has given "poor service" to the Upper Peninsula.

Safety Seat For Planes Developed

WASHINGTON—A new type of seat that throws the passenger back instead of forward in the event of an airplane crash is in the mill here.

Invented by an airlines executive, the seat is adaptable for military air carrier and for civilian ground use, as well as for commercial passenger service. It is coil-sprung, slung in such a way that any sharp forward impact swings the passenger down and back, rather than up and forward.

All you have to do to send the seat into a reclining position for napping while traveling, is recline. There are no levers to push or adjustments to make. Inventor Jess B. Bennett, assistant to the president of Braniff International Airways, is correlating results of tests of his chair before making a final model and seeking a producer.

Editorials—

Timber Use In Lake States Still Greatly Exceeds Our Production

THE Lakes states—Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota—are heavy producers of woods products but many people are surprised to learn that consumption of forest products in these three states greatly exceeds production. That is because woods industries of vast scope have developed in the area to be near raw materials. Expansion of these industries, coupled with a decline in forest resources, created the situation that exists today.

Half of the sawn timber used in the Lakes states is imported from other areas. In addition pulpwood is imported from Canada, utility poles, boxboards and railroad ties from other areas.

Annual timber consumption in the three states is 980 million cubic feet, compared with an output of timber products of only 675 million cubic feet. For saw timber alone, the annual consumption is three billion board feet, with only half this amount being produced in the Lakes states.

Fortunately, we are aware of this problem and are taking steps to solve it. Great progress has already been made in forest fire control and in protecting forests from disease and insects. Improvements have been made in forest cutting methods and in reforestation.

But much work still remains to be done before timber production in the Lakes states will reach a balance with consumption. For one thing the present replanting rate of 40,000 acres a year will have to be sharply increased. The U. S. Forest Service has recommended a minimum replanting schedule of 100,000 acres annually in the three states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Improved forest management and better utilization would increase current timber growth 25 percent, according to the U. S. Forest Service.

This is a problem of great importance to this region. It is a problem that cannot be solved quickly. To achieve the objective, we must encourage more reforestation by local, county, state and federal officials, more reforestation by private land owners, including farmers. And, of course, we must continue to achieve better forest management practices.

The industrial prosperity of the area is dependent to a great extent upon the rebuilding of our forest lands.

Colleges Can Halt Basketball 'Fix'

THE New York basketball scandal involving two youths from Manhattan college is about the seventh unearthed in the past few years.

When a sordid story like this keeps repeating itself, it seems fair to ask: What can we do about it?

It's not enough to deplore the character weakness that leads an occasional athlete to succumb to a bribe. Some of the coaches of eastern teams have been inclined to put the full blame on this. One went so far as to describe the newest plot as a 'crime of the times,' adding: 'We're living in a period of lawlessness.'

But we should at least explore the possibility that other facts have a bearing on these recurring scandals.

One stand-out fact is that in recent years basketball has become much more of a spectacle than formerly. Rules changes that paved the way for high-scoring duels were a prelude. Then the sports promoters began taking the game off the campus and into the big arenas like Madison Square Garden, the Chicago Stadium, and others.

They couldn't have done this, of course, without the collaboration of the colleges involved. The schools obviously were attracted by the lure of big gates. To some small institutions, basketball became the same sort of provider that football is to big schools.

Not only do the receipts help the schools defray other athletic costs; they add prestige and stature to these institutions and thus help their general revenues.

Some of the basketball contests have had all the flavor of football bowl games; big intersectional matches between top teams from coast to coast. From the fans' viewpoint, this meant a great show. From the players' standpoint, excitement, travel, the test of the "big time."

But all these good things have been bought at a considerable price. The game has become infected with extreme commercialization. It has become an open invitation to big gamblers, and they have accepted the opportunity. The record of fixed games tells the tale.

Some may argue that, now that gamblers have moved in, the game couldn't be recaptured from them even if big arena contests were barred and basketball returned to the campus.

College authorities who first took the Army-Notre Dame football game out of Yankee Stadium and then canceled the series felt otherwise. They believed that going back to the campus would indeed be a discouragement to the gamblers.

It seems clear that putting a college sport into the category of a spectacle has the opposite effect. Gambling in this field is unlikely to diminish so long as the great arenas are made the scene of major contests.

When commercial exploitation of college athletes proceeds to the point where scandal is almost commonplace, it is time for colleges to ask themselves whether the revenue benefits are not now outweighed by the destructive moral consequences.

Better Keep Your Fingers Crossed

IT will take a while to get used to the idea: John L. Lewis has signed a new coal contract without a fuss. There will not be a coal strike this year, unless he trumps up some other excuse for one.

The mine chieftain is moving up the scale in his 70's now. Maybe he's getting too old for these bitter scraps. Or maybe it's just Professor Lewis, master of labor strategy, taking a sabbatical. Wait till next year!

Cinder Special

When you're gliding 'cross the country on a sleek and shiny train, and the landscape goes a-rushin' by your ample window-pane, you're reminded of the trains you used to know in years gone by, when you seldom came back home without a cinder in your eye. Yet it surely was adventure when those old-time cars you rode, and to them a lot of treasured boyhood memories are owed.

There was first, of course, the porter, known as George to one and all, and with flashing smile he led you to your dusty, plushy stall. As the whistle screeched, the engine jerked, and then your trip began, and parading down the aisle you saw Old Butch, the candy man. Glass revolvers crammed with candy beads, and also cracker-jacks, soda pop and souvenirs and lurid books with paper backs.

You would eye them all and wish that you could have them every one, as you lurched along believing that your train could really run. But today the streamlined streak you ride is air conditioned too, and you like its solid comfort and its gadgets ever new. Yet somehow you grow nostalgic, looking out your window-pane, and re-live your far-off boyhood on a snortin' old-time train.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Glamor girl of the underworld is beautiful Virginia Hill in whose home racketeer Bugsie Siegel was murdered. Like most of the top hoodlums, Virginia, now Mrs. Hans Houser, files an interesting income tax showing revenue from unexplained sources.

In 1947, for instance, Virginia reported that her income was a flat $16,000 from "wagers on various sporting events." She cut this income down by claiming her brother, Charles Hill, and her mother, Margaret Hill, as dependents and in the end paid Uncle Sam a tax of $4,270.25. This was rather small considering the trips this lady took all over the U. S. A. and Europe and the extravagant way she spent money.

The year previous, Miss Hill was a little more affluent and received an income of $23,870 from "wagers on various sporting events."

Other tax returns run just about the same, with the revenue always from the same source, except that in 1942 she attributed her $18,000 income to "winnings from bets on races." In that year she also deducted a $1,100 contribution to the Jewish Old Ladies' Home in Los Angeles.

The history of the glamour-girl friend of hoodlums may give some insight into her sources of income. Born in Lipscomb, Ala., on Aug. 26, 1916, she attended public school through the 8th grade, and in 1933 went to Chicago as a waitress and girl about town. From 1933 to 1941 Virginia oscillated between Chicago and New York, sometimes stopping at the Madison hotel in New York where she met Joe Adonis and Frankie Costello.

It was through them that she met Bugsie Siegel.

$11,251 HOTEL BILL

After the war, Virginia took some de luxe trips to Paris in 1947 and to Mexico City in 1949 where she lived with a gay caballero named Juan Romero. She has also lived in Beverly Hills, California, the Waldorf-Astoria and the Biltmore in New York, and once owned a home on Sunset Island No. 1 at Miami Beach.

That her reported income does not entirely jibe with her income-tax returns is indicated by the fact that her hotel bill at Sun Valley, Idaho, between Jan. 4 and Feb. 24, 1950 totaled $11,251.39. She paid it off in $100 bills.

At Sun Valley she first met ski instructor Hans Houser, a German national whom she married in 1950. Previously she had married L. O. Griffen in 1938, but this was annulled in 1939. Later she married Carlos Valdez Gonzales in Mexico City. This also ended in divorce.

Most interesting thing about Miss Hill's and other income-tax returns made by underworld figures is that little effort is made by the treasury to check them. Obviously such checking is difficult, for most transactions are in cash. But a lady who can afford a hotel bill of $11,251 obviously has an annual income considerably larger than $16,000 to $20,000.

INVASION OF JAPAN?

One of General MacArthur's cables to Washington caused a real stir in the Pentagon recently; for he reported Russian troop movements on Sakhalin, the long narrow island that skirts the coast of Siberia just north of Japan.

At first it was feared such troop movements meant a Red invasion of Japan, and the cables were kept hot between London, Paris and Washington. There is only a 25-mile stretch of water between northern Japan and southern Sakhalin.

However, neither British intelligence nor U. S. central intelligence bore out the MacArthur report. Further checking showed that it came from Japanese prisoners repatriated from Siberia where they had been kept for five years. On being questioned a second time the prisoners admitted they had only been "told" of Russian troops in southern Sakhalin, had not actually seen them. It may have been significant that they were "told" of these troop movements by the Russians shortly before their release—a possible byplay in the war of nerves.

However, it remains a fact that the Soviet does have heavy troop concentrations not far from Japan on the Siberian mainland.

WORDS TO WATCH

Do not rhyme hostage with postage. The first syllable of hostage should rhyme with "joss," thus: HOSS-tidge.

A similar word to watch is posthumous. The first syllable is not like the word post. Rhyme it with "joss"—POSS-choo-muss.

Do not accent the "pit" in the word hospitable, as "hoss-PIT-uh-b'l." That pronunciation is customary in Great Britain, but not good American usage. Better say: HOSS-pi-tuh-b'l.

Wichita: Ever since the war began in Korea, I have been puzzling over all the different radio pronunciations of the name Seoul. Give us the lowdown on it, won't you Pancho?—J. A. B.

A. Since I know nothing of the Korean language, let's take a look at the dictionaries. Webster's New International: seh-OOL; SEH-ool. The American College Dictionary: sah-ool; syuh-ool. Kenyon and Scott's: say-OOL; SAY-ool; sole, Funk and Wagnall's New College Standard: seh-OOL. Webster's New Collegiate: sole; say-OOL; SUH-ool. New Century: suh-OOL. Thorndike Century: say-OOL. Words: the New Dictionary: say-OOL; SAY-ull; sole, Winston's: seh-OOL. Macmillan's: seh-OOL. Green's World Words (CBS): sah-ool; syuh-ool. N. B. C. Handbook: seh-OOL.

You see? All you have to do is look in the dictionary.

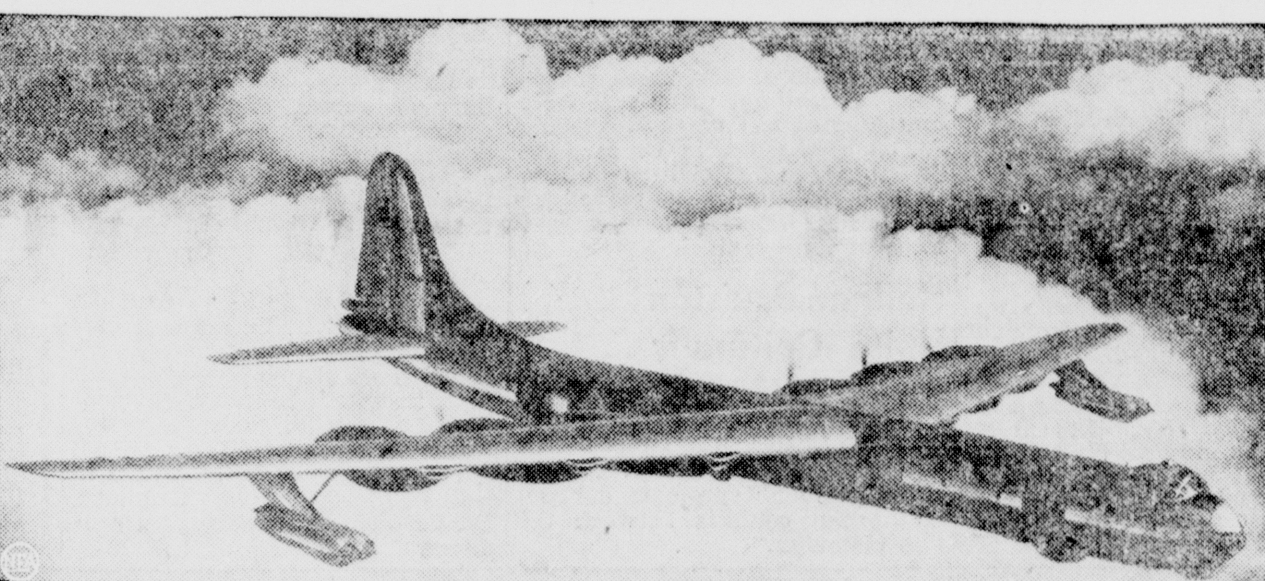

Orange: I notice the words "petits fours" on a menu. Will you please explain the term?—Mrs. S. J. R.

A. Petits fours are small, decorated tea cakes. The French pronunciation is puh-tee FOOR (both s's are silent). Most Americans, however, say PET-ee FOES. The American College Dictionary sanctions this pronunciation.

B-36, Vastly Improved, Is Major Weapon Reds Do Not Possess

LATEST VERSION OF THE B-36: The critics grudgingly admit there's been a big improvement.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The giant B-36 bomber is the one major weapon which Uncle Sam has which the Russians do not possess. Even if U. S. ground forces should suffer maximum disasters in Asia and Europe, with a resultant world divided into two hostile hemispheres, the B-36 would give the U. S. a striking force capable of bringing Russia to its knees with A-bombs.

The Russians are well aware of this. And as a result the giant plane is considered to be a major deterrent to any Russian declaration of war.

Six of the $4,700,000 bombers have just made the first B-36 mission to Europe, flying from Texas to England on what the Air Force called "routine training."

Despite the tremendous advantage that this plane now appears to give to U. S. defenses, it continues to be one of the most controversial airplanes ever built. When it was first put on the drawing board in 1941 by Consolidated Aircraft designers it even caused controversy in the Army Air Corps. The opposition held that a plane that big just wasn't practical.

In the summer of 1949 the B-36 was the main cause of the open and bitter feud between the Air Force and Navy which inspired a full-dress Congressional investigation.

Today, although its critics grudgingly admit that the plane has been improved tremendously in the last couple of years, they claim that it gives the country a false sense of security.

Since the bitter fight between the Navy and Air Force broke out into the open the Air Force has been quietly doing everything possible to improve the plane's performance. When it was first flown it lumbered through the air at something less than 200 miles per hour. Today, having had four jet engines added to the six standard, pusher-type engines, it has a top speed of close to 450 miles-per-hour.

It was first hailed as a bomber that could carry a five-ton bomb load 10,000 miles. It is now capable of that, and more. Maximum bomb load is now given as 42 tons, easily the equivalent of much more than one atomic bomb.

When its 10 engines are operating they are about equal to the pull of nine locomotives traveling at top speed. Its bomb load is more than the total weight of a fully-loaded B-24 Liberator. Its present, proved range of more than 10,000 miles is considered to be about twice the range of the best long-range Russian bombers, which are copies of America's B-29's.

Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey, Air Force director of operations, says that the morale of the 15-man crews in the B-36 groups is extremely high. He says that the men are completely sold on the performance and flight characteristics of the plane. Of the millions of miles flown by B-36's, only three have crashed. Although exact statistics aren't available, this safety record, it is said, compares favorably with any airplane the Air Force has developed.

After the Congressional probe into the B-36, an independent weapons system evaluations group was set up to try to determine just whether or not the plane was a turkey. Results of this study are a secret but the Air Force is now buying an unrevealed large number of the bombers, with deliveries expected during the next couple of years.

According to Air Force spokesmen, the B-36 has proved itself so satisfactory in the past few months there has been some revised thinking on just what big bomber will be developed as the successor to it. There is a program under way to build prototypes of a B-52 which would have the load-carrying ability and range of the B-36, but would have all jet engines and be in the 600-mile-per-hour class.

However, there is consideration being given to modifying the basic B-36 design by adding swept-back wings and using either jets or turbo-props—a combination of jet and propeller power.

In explaining the amazing size of the monster B-36, the Air Force points out that a 600-room hotel could be heated by the plane's anti-icing equipment. The volume of the bomber is 18,000 cubic feet, equal to the volume of three average five-room houses. An automobile could go around the world 16 times and then visit every state in the union with the 21,116 gallons of gas which the wing tanks hold.

When the Air Force reaches its full strength, under present plans, it will have about eight groups of B-36's, with 30 planes to a group.

Have Japs Really Buried Their Militaristic Ambitions?

John Foster Dulles, on leaving Washington for Japan to negotiate a peace treaty, used an expression regarding Nippon that invites speculation.

The Republican foreign affairs adviser to Secretary of State Acheson expressed confidence that the Japanese will become worthy members of the free world, "now that their militaristic ambitions have been buried."

One doesn't question Japan's present good intentions. It is indeed to be hoped that her eyes are fixed on peace. Still it certainly is given to wonder whether, despite the best of intentions, she may again encounter circumstances which will shake her resolve.

What has impelled Japan to embark on her numerous wars? Some of them have been inspired by imperialistic ambitions, but to a large degree she has been spurred by the lack of sufficient arable land to support her population.

This presents a vital problem not only for Japan but for America, because our military and economic strength in the Orient rests largely in Japan. Thus not only our own security but world peace depend on what happens to her.

Japan's present population of 83,000,000 is more than twice that of France. She not only is crowded already but her population has been increasing rapidly at the rate of about 1,631,000 per year.

Yet only about 16 per cent of Japan's land is arable, for it is mountainous. Where then is she to get the agricultural products with which to feed her big and rapidly growing population? Emigration to foreign lands won't solve the problem.

It's when you reach this point in analysis that you come to the uncomfortable realization that it is in the raw materials.

Potentially Japan also is one of the great industrial powers, but here again we find her lacking in the raw materials she needs for manufacture.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BIRDSEYE BEAVER—Without considering why, it can be reported as fact that designers of women's apparel in Paris, France, are knocking themselves out trying to do the unusual.

Plywood hats are among the latest offerings from the fashion center—with the plywood (another name for wood veneer) very probably coming from the Birds Eye Veneer company in Escanaba.

The reason we think that must be so is because Juel Lee, Birds Eye Veneer company president and general manager, directed our attention to the recent flutter of wood veneer hats in the Paris fashion headlines.

"See," he said, handing us the newspaper clipping, "there is nothing that you can't make with veneer."

LUMBER HATS—The item under the Paris dateline also has an appeal for the fur industry of Delta county.

"Lumber hats" made of wood, and straw hats trimmed with mink, were seen Thursday when dress designer Pierre Balmain presented the first hat show ever to be staged by a French couturier.

The "lumber hats," continues the item, are made of natural-colored, super-thin plywood and weigh no more than the average straw hat.

Delta mink farmers have seen mink pelts blossom in most unusual places the past few years. Life magazine pictured a chorus girl with mink panties—and now mink on straw has gone to women's heads.

FIRE EXTINGUISHER—In a more serious mood, suppose we report a conversation with a man from Escanaba township who asks to remain anonymous.

"I wish you would put in the paper that the people of Escanaba township and particularly here in Flat Rock appreciate the quick response of the Escanaba fire department when they were notified of the fire at the Eugene Plouff home.

"People said they did not see how the fire truck could get here so quickly over those slippery roads. The firemen arrived only a few minutes after being called and knew what to do after they got here. We believe they should be commended."

Note: Under terms of a contract effective Nov. 15, 1950, the city of Escanaba provides fire fighting equipment to the township on call. The cost to the township is $70 for the first hour and $50 per hour after the first hour. Other townships adjacent to Escanaba have evinced interest in the plan.)

CHILD PROTECTION—Fire is one of the greatest hazards of the home, particularly in winter. It is then that stoves and furnaces are going, paper and rubbish are more likely to collect in basements, and children spend more time indoors.

Some parents have problems with children, others with fire danger—and some have both. For children have a natural curiosity about fire and appear to pass through a phase in which they are fascinated by matches and fire-starting.

The parents of one small boy who had twice nearly burned down the family home were amazed to find that something could be done to correct the fire-starting habit.

They had consulted child-training specialists and had reasoned with Junior for hours at a time. Then one evening they came home to find the teen-age baby sitter giving Junior a spanking, something he had never before experienced.

"He started a fire in the wastebasket and then tried to give me a hot-foot," said the indignant baby sitter, "so I paddled him."

Junior was a changed boy thereafter. A little heat applied to his pants chased the firebug out of him.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Stafford LeDuc last night was elected president of the Musicians Union, Local 663. He succeeds Wilfred Dupont.

Manistique—H. A. Wood of Munising was elected president of the Red Buck Boy Scout Council, at a meeting here last night. He succeeds A. R. Watson of Gladstone. Vice presidents elected were A. V. Aronson of Escanaba, A. J. Cayia of Manistique and J. T. Jones of Gladstone.

Gladstone—The Gladstone Teachers club will hold its annual party tonight at Escanaba. Aily Nuttall, Clara Laidlaw, Mable Olson, Betty Mather and C. E. Fisher are in charge.

Escanaba—Mrs. Dorothy Kempt Roosevelt, former wife of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's brother, Hall Roosevelt, of Birmingham, Mich., now state director of the Michigan music project, is expected here Feb. 20. Mrs. Roosevelt is touring Upper Michigan to inspect music projects.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Two members of the Escanaba Legion post, T. F. Kessler and E. L. Moersch will attend the Upper Peninsula Legion conference at Houghton Sunday.

Escanaba—Announcement of plans for an old-fashioned minstrel show here was made by the Escanaba Football association. M. J. Lang has been selected to direct the show.

Gladstone—William Madden has left for Deer Lodge, Mont., where he will visit with his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Cookson. He also will visit in Butte with his brother, Dan Madden.

Escanaba—Herbert L. Holderman, superintendent of the C&N.W. tie plant, and Mrs. Holderman are leaving tonight for Philadelphia, where he will attend a wood preservers' convention.

Stripes are popular again with the women—and they'll attract men's attention all along the lines.

Tour By 'Ike' Wins Approval

But He Must Sell Views To Congress

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — All reports, both public and private, agree that General Eisenhower's tour of Europe has been an unqualified success. Far more than the actual steps taken to accelerate North Atlantic defenses is the current hope stirred by Eisenhower's confident, vigorous presence.

He referred to himself jokingly before he left as a psychological bomb. And that phrase expresses the impact that he has made on the European capitals as he has moved from one to the other.

This is, of course, the answer to the controversy in the Senate. Already the force of the Eisenhower mission has reduced the terms of that controversy. Senator Taft of Ohio has modified his position to stand now on a limitation on the number of American troops which may be sent to Europe. He originally challenged the president's right to send any more American divisions.

Faces Tough Job

Eisenhower task when he returns will not be an easy one. When he goes before Congress, he will be pressed hard to give the kind of iron-clad assurances that Congress longs to hear. His problem then will be to say enough without saying too much.

For he will know, as any realist must know, that there is no guarantee of security in any plan of defense in the present perilous state of the world. But along with America's top military command, Eisenhower believes it is imperative to try to save for the defense of the west America's allies in western Europe with their great industrial complex and their resources of men and materials.

This is a great gamble. But it is less of a gamble, in the view of military men, than the Gibraltar concept of falling back to a bastion in the western hemisphere. The latter, as they see it, means a certain conflict on the most impossible terms.

Has Much Prestige

Avoiding one of those final, positive statements that Congress presses for, Eisenhower will have to give his opinion on the defense of Western Europe with the assistance of American divisions. No one

Irked Marines Mail 20 Purple Heart Medals To Truman

PORT HURON — (AP)—President Truman has 20 purple heart medals—if the U. S. mails saw them through to the White House—to remind him of his since regretted remarks about the marine corps being the navy's police force.

This was revealed by Pfc. Donald R. Chatterton, 20-year-old marine veteran of Korea. Wounded, Chatterton now is home on 30 days recuperation leave.

Hearing the President's remarks upon their evacuation to the Treasure Island Marine Base at San Francisco, Chatterton said he and 19 other wounded marines were so angered that they put their purple heart medals in the same envelope and addressed it to President Truman.

Chatterton said he never learned whether the President got the medals.

Besides describing the marine corps as the navy's police force, the President accused of having a propaganda machine the equal of Stalin's. He later apologized and expressed his regrets.

New Business Head Appointed At U. M.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Dr. Wilbur K. Pierpont has been appointed to succeed Robert P. Briggs as vice president in charge of business and finance at University of Michigan.

The appointment becomes effective Feb. 1, 1951, when Briggs leaves to assume his new post as vice-president and director of Consumers' Power Co., at Jackson.

Dr. Pierpont, a native of Winn, Mich., has been controller of the university since 1947. He graduated with a B. A. degree at Central Michigan College of Education in 1934. He came to University of Michigan in 1936 and two years later received a masters' degree in business administration. He became a doctor of philosophy in 1942.

In 1946, he became an assistant professor of accounting in the school of business administration and an assistant to Briggs. One year later, he became controller.

California Tops Nation In Federal Employees; Michigan Has 32,162

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Michigan has 32,162 federal civilian employees—but that's only one sixth of the number you find in California.

California tops the nation in that department, with 179,083 civilian workers on the government's payroll, the joint committee on non-essential expenditures reported.

Second was the District of Columbia with 165,995 employees. The nation's total of federal civilian workers is nearly 2,000,000 and is increasing rapidly, the committee said.

The congressional group, headed by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) suggested in its report that action be taken to conserve the use of civilian manpower by the government.

Here is a breakdown of the Michigan figures:
Agriculture department, 486; Commerce department, 240; Interior department, 161; justice department, 658; postoffice department, 15,190; treasury department, 2,439; national military establishment, 6,667; federal security agency, 492; general services administration, 32; housing and home finance agency, 667; veterans administration, 4,409; other agencies, 701.

County totals follow:
Alcona, 23; Alger, 36; Allegan, 121; Alpena, 63; Antrim, 32; Arenac, 33; Baraga, 29; Barry, 65; Bay, 1,117; Benzie, 33; Berrien, 298; Branch, 66; Calhoun, 1,549; Cass, 61; Charlevoix, 59; Cheboygan, 45; Chippewa, 149;

Tungsten Allocation To Start March 1

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The National production authority has ordered Tungsten under allocation on March 1 and limited non-essential uses of the steel-alloying material. The agency also tightened up its entire steel regulation.

NPA administrator William H. Harrison said the curtailment of Tungsten supplies from China and Korea, both important producers, indicates that industry will receive this year "considerably less than normal requirements" of Tungsten.

Large quantities are being used in jet engines and other military programs, Harrison said. Other users of high-temperature steel will be required to convert substantially to molybdenum, which is less desirable.

After March 1 NPA will allocate all Tungsten except ores and scrap according to the essentiality of the produce being made. No person will be permitted to use in any three-month period more than 50 pounds of Tungsten in making grinding wheels, printing and lithographic inks or pigments of any type, coloring material for wall paper or other products.

To force the use of substitutes, NPA ordered that no firm place orders for delivery in any month of more than 20 per cent of its total requirements of steel contain-

Suggests Work For Dissenters

Says Draft Evaders Are Molly-Coddled

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—As a continuation of our recent message on the punishable liability of the draft dodger, the conniver, even the conscientious objector, we might mention a few alternatives in handling the man who is too proud, too scared, or too "dedicated" to lump himself with his fellows when the country hollers, "come."

Last sermon raised a bumptious point: If shooting is good enough for people who get summoned to war, why is shooting not good enough for people who say, flatly, "No," and proceed therefrom to internment or jail?

When old Hank scribbled his name on the original document, we were dedicated to equality of handling. The old came one, come all. During a century and more of few laws, much space, and large opportunity for individuality, if a man didn't like his local laws he picked up his traps and took off for more clement climes.

Everyone Is Liable

But today government has fallen upon us, and has smitten us hip, thigh, and bank account, to where everybody seems liable for some participation in what the bossman orders—order out of hand, with small time or opportunity for debate by elected representatives. This makes all hands liable for the penalties of mass action.

The news of the last ten years has been fly-specked by incidents of people who claim special privilege. "I am ideologically opposed to war," says one. "I am religiously opposed to war," says another. "I am exempt from war because of my value in other fields," says still another. "I am just plain scared of it, and wish no part of it," mutters another, but only to himself, while he dives frantically into a contrived deferment.

"Tain't right, any more, if some go and some stay, largely according to individual choice or pull or persuasion. Not if they can tax you, with no personal recourse, and draft you, with no real personal arbitration, and organize you for civil defense, and slap you silly with restrictions and codes and rules and regulations."

"Screening" Business

There, has, in the past, been a big thing in the services about "screening," to insure a majority of "proper" personnel. This has not always applied to other important governmental functions, such as the state department. Anything as big as an armed service needs little screening outside of positions of minor trust. I would define minor trust as giving a man a bar or a pouchful of grenades, or a sextant, or a signal flag, and putting him in business for himself.

But there is no need to throw a dissenter in jail, for draft avoidance, or for ducking the other grim necessities of emergency. If he feels sorely that he is spir-

It is usually unft for war there are a million mental tasks no more degrading than ceiling sweeping in the farmhouse or swabbing a plate in the kitchen or policing the toilets. Sabotage is hard to administer with a mop.

We flung a flock of "conchie" into jail the last war, when we could just as well have employed them profitably on KP in non-critical military centers. We dilled and we dallied with the dodgers, and we convicted a few, at great waste of time and money. We could have set them to sweeping the streets or tending the cattle barns.

Pleasure Boat Sales Pick Up

But Industry Is Unsure Of Future

By SUMNER P. ABLUM
NEW YORK (NEA)—Under a brisk sales wind whistled up by eager boating enthusiasts, the nation's pleasure boat industry is sailing into a springtime boom.

The breeze sprang up with unexpected force as the 1951 boat shows got underway. A lot of it probably has been stirred up by mobilization scare-buying, and the boat makers aren't sure what uncharted obstacles lie ahead in the way of shortages and restrictions.

Nevertheless, the breeze is ruffling the order pads. Hardly anybody in the boat business is turning away customers as yet, even when they are buying items like outboard motors in unusual quantities, apparently to stash them away for the duration.

By the time the 41st National Motor Boat Show closed in New York, the boat makers were ducking a lot of rumor squalls, but they weren't running for shelter. When the Chicago National Boat Show opens Feb. 2, there may be more accurate indications on which to base an industry forecast for the long-range future.

Right now a lot of builders have a good inventory of vital material, such as steel, and since the last war is still fresh in their minds, they are beginning to fabricate it immediately so they won't have to give it back.

One engine manufacturer, for instance, has enough material to make 100 engines, which would keep him busy for the next nine months. This material includes the most critical item, shafting, which contains copper.

A builder of steel pleasure boats has enough steel on hand for 140 craft, and was busy during the New York show signing up new dealers.

There was some gloom. An aircraft corporation which has been making a highly popular aluminum dinghy has stopped building them because of the aluminum shortage, although some users of that metal think they can still get it from Canada.

One maker of popular cruisers indicated he was going to halt pleasure boat building in a couple of months; another big-name builder, specializing in custom craft, was still happily accepting sales contracts despite the fact he has a defense contract.

The immediate pinch, apparently, will be in hardware—cleats, deck plates, hull fastenings, and other fittings. Most modern pleasure boats use brass and bronze for those items. But builders already are talking in terms of substitutes, such as wooden cleats and galvanized fastenings.

Some of them are even standing around, during lulls in the flurries of customers, talking nostalgically of the old days of wooden ships, when wind was all the power you needed and the hull was fastened together with trunnels. A trunnel is a nail made of wood, and nobody expects any shortages in that.

Straw Fertilizer Urged In Canada

SASKATOON (P)—Fifty million tons of straw, huge by-product of Canada's agriculture, is produced annually but most is either abandoned or burned.

That's an estimate contained in a recent article in a Canadian Chamber of Commerce booklet. Authors G. A. Ledingham, J. B. Marshall and J. E. Stone of the National Research Council Laboratories at Saskatoon and E. S. Archibald of the Dominion Department of Agriculture advocate returning the straw to the soil.

On-Stage Mishaps At Met Plague The Musical Great

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—When Rise Stevens got a splinter of glass in her eye, the result of an over-enthusiastic performance at the Metropolitan Opera, she was just following a noble tradition. Some of the greatest names in Met history have gilded their careers with on-stage mishaps.

The contralto star was singing "Der Rosenkavalier." The script called for Miss Stevens to smash a wine glass to the floor. She did, with gusto. A glass splinter bounced up, struck her in the right eye. She finished the act, and between acts a doctor took the splinter out. Then she went back singing.

Dorothy Kirsten, the blonde soprano, is another Met female star who has been wounded in the line of duty. As "Madame Butterfly," Miss Kirsten decided the part of the Japanese heroine called for walking around in her stocking feet, to better emphasize the mincing steps of Japanese ladies.

She minced so enthusiastically that she walked into a knot hole in the floor and broke her toe. She finished out the act. Two months later, she repeated in the part, and broke the same toe, which was still weak. Now she wears ballet slippers.

Enrico Caruso, who weighed in at around 180, was singing with a 230-pound leading lady in "La Boheme." His part called for him to pick up "little" Mimi, dying of tuberculosis, and place her gently on a bed.

Caruso managed to push the plump diva on the bed, which was on wheels. While Caruso stood agast, the bed rolled into the wings.

During "La Tosca," Geraldine Farrar and Antonio Scotti were singing on a couch, when one leg collapsed. Scotti and Miss Farrar sang on, with the couch listing slightly to starboard.

Lily Pons, the Met's great coloratura soprano, was smack in the middle of a brilliant coloratura passage, when the string of her necklace broke. From then on, each note was accompanied by a tinkle, as one by one her beads bit the dust.

One Met accident was so successful it has since been incorporated as standard fare in "Carmen." Carmen is arrested during the opera, and, on this night, Miss Stevens put up such a vicious fight that she snapped a garter. Immediately after the fight, she goes into a long song and dance number. As she sang and danced, she felt her stocking slipping. Finally, she stopped, deliberately put her foot on a chair, pulled up her skirt and fixed the stocking. The audience liked it, and now she does it every time.

Perhaps the classic is the time Leo Slezak missed his entrance

Armstrong County South Dakota Has No Federal Employees

ARMSTRONG COUNTY, S. D. (P)—Armstrong county residents will never have a big mass meeting over the government report that they live in the only county in the nation without a federal employee.

If anyone felt inclined to call such a meeting and everyone came, the attendance would be 52 persons. That's by the 1950 census count.

Anyway, it would be too much trouble for the handful of ranchers and Indians scattered over Armstrong's 530-square miles of rolling West-Central South Dakota prairie to gather for such a purpose.

Armstrong has distinctions other than its lack of government employees.

It has no towns. It's reported to be the only U. S. county without a post office. And it has undoubtedly the smallest voting population. A single voting precinct is adequate for the whole county, which lies in the Cheyenne River Indian reservation. As a state unit, Armstrong is unorganized. It is attached to adjoining Stanley county for political purposes. However, a state legislator from Dewey county has introduced a bill in the legislature that would take Armstrong's 336,000 acres and incorporate them in his county.

Maybe he sees Armstrong as a growing proposition. It's gained 10 residents since the 1940 census.

It has no towns. It's reported to be the only U. S. county without a post office. And it has undoubtedly the smallest voting population. A single voting precinct is adequate for the whole county, which lies in the Cheyenne

Reducing TB Death
Rate, Doctor Says

ANN ARBOR—Modern surgical treatment is steadily decreasing the death rate of advanced tuberculosis of the lungs, according to a University of Michigan surgeon.

However, the disease still remains the most costly of all communicable diseases in loss of life, time from work and income, and in money required for prevention and treatment, Dr. Charles E. O'Brien, resident surgeon at University hospital, pointed out.

Tuberculosis of the lungs takes an approximate annual toll of 1,500 lives in Michigan, he said.

Dr. O'Brien outlined three operations designed for surgically controlling the lung disease by either collapsing the diseased area or removing it: 1) temporary phrenic nerve paralysis; 2) thoracoplasty; and 3) lung resection.

Treatment by collapse is designed to give the diseased area of the lung rest and relaxation in addition to the rest the whole body receives with the patient in bed in a sanatorium, the U-M doctor explained. Treatment by removal separates the patient from his disease, or, at least, that part of it which cannot be controlled by other methods, he added.

The phrenic nerve operation is the simplest and easiest method of providing the lung with additional rest and relaxation, he declared. The nerve, which passes from the neck through the chest to the muscular partition between the bottom of the chest cavity and the top of the abdominal cavity, is crushed with a fine instrument which causes the diaphragm to stop moving for approximately six months, Dr. O'Brien explained. Temporary paralysis of the diaphragm helps the diseased lung area to heal by stopping the up and down movement of the diaphragm, and, since the paralyzed diaphragm becomes elevated, the distance between the top and bottom of the chest is shortened, thus producing relaxation.

(P) Newsfeatures

So your boyfriend has gone to war.

Let's of girls who thought they had found that "one and only" are confronted with the prospect of a few lonely years, while GI Jim fulfills his military obligations. Actually young girls (under 18) should not be dating boys of military age on a steady basis—unless they plan to marry before the boy goes away.

Usually these little left-at-home girls sit around the house staring at the departed one's picture. They spend their time writing mushy letters, poetry and drooly love notes. They give up other boys even though they are too young to be promised to a youth a couple of thousand miles away.

Lots of girls who followed this pattern during the last war wasted precious years, only to find that their loved one took unto himself a bride in another country.

Many a boy wanting to spare a girl heartbreak took a year or more after his marriage to terminate his mail-friendship with the girl back home. If she was smart, she probably got the pitch or was annoyed by his evasive replies and lack of enthusiasm when corresponding with her. But women in love are not smart. So the average girl who lost her beau via the foreign market suffered a great deal of mental anguish, and hardly was in the frame of mind to make a quick recovery and on to another romance.

Some might say that boys in the service during World War II were just as abused by Cupid as were their lady loves back home, many of whom picked husbands who were available and on the spot. While there might have been a few girls who were ruthless in their anxiety to get a man signed up on that marriage certificate, few people ever blame a woman who is told from childhood that her ultimate security lies only in marriage.

Men have many more marriageable years than do women; somehow their wrinkles and paunches do not count so why feel sorry for them? They sometimes have no qualms, either, about divorcing the little woman when her waistline expands or crows feet appear under her eyelids.

It is not the time to feel sorry about the ultimate chances of your departing soldier to marry someone else, if you should change your plans. Take the advice of girls who are older, wiser and have been burned by homecoming candles which grew dim in their windows: Unless you've got an engagement ring or a reasonable facsimile thereof (some definite touch of esteem and affection) don't count on that man too much. Even then the gentlemen are opportunists and selfish and an engagement ring would be considered small loss by them if they wished to satisfy their desires in another direction.

Any girl who gives a pledge to a boy who is going abroad faces the risk of losing him and should be prepared for the shock. Even if you feel you could never love another and your heart is permanently captivated by your fighting Romeo, have an understanding with him that you both will date others, so that the blame of cooled affections will not rest on one person's shoulders, if it should happen.

If on the day of your reunion you still care for each other, you will be singularly fortunate indeed. Youth is like a searching wind—it doesn't mean to be fickle.

If you've known your young man for a long time, and think that marriage is the only solution, discuss it with your parents and then don't hesitate if they approve. As one girl said recently:

"My boyfriend and I decided to treat his sojourn in the Army as sort of a separation which could happen if he'd gone away to college. We are going to get married now, and save the allowance I am entitled to as a wife, for furniture and a down payment on a house."

If you want to brighten an aluminum saucepan cook rhubarb, tomatoes, or some other acid fruit in it.

Special Education
At Pinecrest
Topic Of Talk

Mrs. Evelyn Collins, special education teacher at Pinecrest sanatorium, Powers, spoke on her work with the patients at the dinner meeting of the Escanaba Business and Professional Woman's club Tuesday evening at the Sherman hotel.

The speaker told of the 21 students under 25 years of age and 11 in adult education whom she has at present and said that she was particularly impressed by their courage and determination. Patients, she said are allowed only two hours a day for study but they make remarkable progress.

Miss Marie Peters, chairman of the meeting, introduced the speaker.

Plywood Union Votes Strike

40¢ An Hour Wage Boost Demanded

Members of Buckeye Local No. 9, employees of the Northwestern Plywood company, voted Wednesday 300 to 1 to strike for enforcement of union demands for higher wages.

A 10 day notice of intent to strike is required under the union contract with the corporation and as a result of the strike vote, the union served notice to-day upon the company of its strike intention. Union officials reported that unless an agreement is reached, the employees will strike Feb. 3.

Negotiations between the company officials and the union for settlement of differences are continuing, however. A meeting called for U. S. Conciliator John Luecke of Escanaba is being held today by representatives of the corporation and the union.

The union is asking for a wage increase of 40 cents an hour, plus labor conditions contained in the present contract. An offer of 6 1/2 cents an hour has been made by the company and rejected by the union, it was reported.

The company employs 340 persons. The present minimum wage provided in the contract is $1.00 an hour.

Autos Damaged In Three-Car Crash; No One Is Injured

Three cars were damaged but no one was injured in a traffic accident during a snowstorm at 2:30 p. m. yesterday on US-241 at the junction of county road 517 between Gladstone and Escanaba.

State police of the Gladstone detachment reported that John Sowa, 65, of Fayette, had parked on the pavement because of the poor visibility. His car was struck in the right rear by a car driven by Milford G. Young, 20, of 510 Montana, Gladstone.

The third car, driven by Charles Herbeck, 39, of Powers, also going north, struck the Sowa car and then continued ahead and collided with the Young car. Sowa was ticketed for parking on the pavement.

Junior Class Will Sponsor Card Party

The Junior Class of Gladstone high school is sponsoring a card party on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 1, at the high school gymnasium. Bridge, smeer, five hundred and canasta will be the games. The general public is invited.

Burma Planning Forest Projects

RANGOON—(P)—The famous Burmese teak may soon find itself in competition with other Burmese hardwoods if plans by Australian-born Dr. F. A. V. Monroy materialize.

Monroy, a forestry expert with the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, has come here to help the Burmese establish an integrated forest industry. He says the Burmese have neglected several species because of the bias in favour of teak. Some of these are well suited for conversion into firewood, plywood and pulpwood. Other species can be used for carpentry and house-building.

He proposes picking favourable locations in the country and going to work on what is available. The projects will be financed by the Burmese government and will include the making of plastics, an industry entirely new to this country, Monroy said.

Action Is Urged In Curbing Riots

BEIRUT, Lebanon—(P)—The Lebanese Women's Federation in a resolution expressed strong disapproval of government tolerance of recent shooting incidents.

More than 20 persons reportedly were injured—several fatally—in a number of separate demonstrations. In some cases they involved disputes between Christians and Moslems. Participants are said to have fired machine guns and pistols and set off dynamite bombs, with no interference from the police.

The population of this tiny, mountainous country on the eastern Mediterranean is about half Moslem and half Christian.

Youths Admit Ski Hill Prank

Officers Solve Halloween Case

Two penitent youths sheepishly admitted in justice court yesterday afternoon that they were responsible, with six minor boys, for the destruction of the city toboggan slide and the junior ski scaffold last Halloween.

The two, Oliver Olmsted, 19, and Delano Dixon, 18, were sentenced to 90 days in jail but were ordered to serve only five. They were also directed to make restitution of $15 each within 15 days to the city for the damage; failure to do so, they were advised by Justice of the Peace Victor P. Deemer, will automatically send them back to jail for 85 days.

Six other boys, all under 17, will be arraigned in probate court before Judge Ralph Merwin as soon as proper investigation has been made by Mrs. Anton Weber, county welfare agent.

Arrest of the eight boys by Sheriff Howard A. Hewitt and state police followed disclosures made Monday by William Harris while he was being taken to Munising for circuit court arraignment on a jail escaping charge.

Harris revealed to officers that he had met Dixon in Milwaukee following the Halloween prank and said Dixon had boasted of his strength in wrecking the ski scaffold and toboggan slide. Officers immediately nabbed Dixon, and Tuesday afternoon he made statements implicating himself and the seven others.

The junior ski slide was repaired several weeks ago by local skiers but no effort has been made to rebuild the toboggan slide.

U. P. Not Slighted In Road Spending, Commissioner Says

Over 24 per cent of state highway department funds, not eight per cent, was spent in the Upper Peninsula during the period from 1946 to 1949, according to a letter from Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, to the Schoolcraft county board of supervisors.

The letter, a copy of which was dispatched to all county boards in the peninsula, was read at the annual session of the local board yesterday afternoon.

It was in answer to a resolution adopted by Upper Peninsula supervisors at their last convention which asserted that the highway department was spending less than eight per cent of its funds in the peninsula. The resolution also had pointed out that state law requires a minimum of eight per cent.

The highway commissioner's letter said that criticism of activities during war years was not warranted because it was necessary to spend heavily on maintaining lower Michigan roads bearing heavy war traffic. Since war's end, however, the division of highway spending has favored the peninsula far in excess of legal requirements, Ziegler pointed out.

Briefly Told

Ski Tow—The Manistique ski tow will be open for use on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 9 p. m.

Donates Turkey—Edward Renahan, of the Boot Lake Turkey ranch on M-94, near Shingletown, has donated a 22-pound turkey to the Schoolcraft county March of Dimes campaign. It is announced by Mrs. A. W. Cockram, director. The turkey will be given away in a special fund raising venture. Mrs. Cockram reported.

Demands Trial—Jay Livermore, of Germfask, pleaded not guilty and demanded trial when arraigned yesterday afternoon in local justice court on a charge of hunting with an artificial light. Trial was set for Jan. 30. Livermore was arrested by Conservation Officer Harold R. Peters in Germfask township on Dec. 7. The alleged offense took place on Nov. 20.

County Board Names Committee To Study Indian Lake Matter

After a long period of indecision the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon took the first step in seeking a solution to the controversial Indian lake water level matter since the level was established by circuit court decree several years ago.

Following nearly two hours of debate during which no agreement could be reached on the county's place in the Indian lake question, the chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of three to make a study of the matter. The committee, to work in cooperation with Prosecuting Attorney William J. Sheahan, is expected to have a report ready for April board meeting.

Chairman Walter Burns appointed Agner Dehlin, of Hiawatha township, William W. Davidson, of Doyle township, and A. W. Heitman, of the city of Manistique, on the study committee.

The county board, which at previous meetings has refused to assume responsibility for enforcing the circuit court decree, again was cool to the idea. Complicating the matter further is the fact that

Social

American Legion Auxiliary
The American Legion auxiliary met Monday evening in the Legion clubrooms.

A vote of thanks was given to the Veterans' Administration for the party it gave veterans in the Iron Mountain hospital. The auxiliary also decided to give a Valentine's day party for the "forgotten" men in the veteran's hospital there. The auxiliary will donate cards and handkerchiefs. There will also be a donation of cookies, and persons are asked to bring them to the home of Mrs. C. W. Jackson, 412 Arbutus avenue. All donations must be in by February 8.

Following the business meeting cards were played and prizes were given to Mrs. Charles McQuay in 500; Mrs. John Grimsley in buncie, and Mrs. Fred Homer in canasta.

At the close of the evening a lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. W. Jackson, Mrs. Tallie Poquette, Mrs. George Weber, and Mrs. Jacob Weber.

The next meeting will be held February 12 in the clubrooms. The hostesses will be notified.

Ladies' Aid
The Ladies' Aid of the First Baptist church will meet next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church parlors. The ladies of the Bethel Baptist church have been invited to the meeting.

Miss Viola Olson, state welfare office of Escanaba, will be the speaker.

Pot luck buffet style refreshments will be served.

Marriage Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Laurion announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Lucille, to Joseph Barker, of Menominee.

The marriage will take place Saturday, February 3, at the St. Anne's church in Menominee.

Wanda's Party
Wanda Burns celebrated her fifth birthday anniversary recently at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burns, 114 N. Second street.

The afternoon was spent playing games.

Pink tapers, candy filled nut cups, and individual pink cupcakes topped by candles, were decorations for the table.

Guests at the party included JoAnn and Betty Jane Ott, Judy Gunnerson, Jennelle Bertrand, Penny Norton, Lynn Berner, and Gloria Jean Burns.

Wanda received nice gifts.

Group Approves School Program

School Meeting Is Held On Tuesday

Over 30 representative Manistique citizens who attended a special meeting called by the city board of education Tuesday night agreed that the board's proposed expansion of school facilities here was needed.

Most of the organized groups in the community, including unions, service clubs and parent-teacher associations, were represented at the meeting, held in the junior high school auditorium. Dr. George A. Shaw, president of the school board, presided.

Representatives at the session agreed to carry the story of public school needs back to their respective organizations and to explain the reasons for the proposed enlargement program.

To Meet Again

Another meeting of the group, it was decided, will be held prior to a special election where the matter of continuing a three and one-quarter mills tax proposal will be submitted to the electorate.

A school debt service tax of three and one-half mills, in effect for the past 20 years, will end this winter. The school board will seek voter approval of continuing three and one-quarter mills of this tax to finance the proposed expansion program.

This, it was pointed out, would not be a tax increase; it would, in fact, be a quarter mill drop from the tax which has been paid locally for two decades.

Will Reopen Riverside

The reopening of Riverside school would be the first step in the program to provide more classroom space, the group was told. This would handle the expected "bulge" in enrollment coming in 1952 and 1953. Expansion of junior high school facilities to meet this increase when it rolls into the seventh grade around 1959 also was explained.

Continuance of the three and one-quarter mills tax would provide necessary funds and would eliminate the necessity of borrowing money and paying interest, it was pointed out by board of education members.

It was decided that every Manistique citizen should be given information on the proposed program and the need for it, and be urged to vote when the special election is held.

No date has been set for the election but it is expected to be in the spring.

Cookson Re-Elected Director Of Michigan Hardware Association

E. E. Cookson was re-elected to membership on the board of directors of the Michigan Retail Hardware association at its annual convention in Detroit last week.

Cookson, the only Upper Peninsula hardware dealer on the board, is commencing his fifth term as director. Next year he is eligible for the vice presidency of the association.

Paul Hayden, of Cassopolis, was elected president of the as-

Gazvoda To Speak At Industrial Banquet Here On January 31

Albert J. Gazvoda, district field supervisor for the Michigan State Employment Service, will be the speaker at the industrial banquet at the Paul Bunyan Cook Camp on Wednesday evening, January 31, it was announced yesterday by William H. Frederick, secretary of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

Further plans for the banquet were outlined at a meeting of the special industrial committee Tuesday evening.

An advance ticket selling campaign is now underway. George Wood, committee chairman, has announced that every person in the community interested in increasing local employment is invited to the banquet but they should obtain their banquet ticket as soon as possible, as dining facilities are limited.

Gazvoda spoke at a meeting of the chamber's industrial division several weeks ago and emphasized the facilities Manistique has to offer new industry seeking branch locations. Since that time he has been to Washington and has visited several midwestern cities, and is expected to have a timely message on industrial expansion in the larger centers and how smaller communities can benefit by it.

The industrial committee at its meeting also discussed plans for

Large Crowd Sees Local Fighters In Action Wednesday

Despite the fact that promised Escanaba boxers failed to show up last night, the local boxing organization proceeded to hold its practice show before a large crowd at the National Guard armory.

Eight bouts of three two-minute rounds were held, with Manistique boxers paired against each other to gain experience for the Golden Gloves tournament in Escanaba in February. Four of the fighters had to appear twice in the ring to complete the program.

The following no-decision matches were held:

William Belleville vs. Darryl Bertrand; Joseph Quinn vs. Irvin Henrichsen; P. Walters vs. Irvin Henrichsen; Ernest Pelon vs. Dale Larson; Wayne Tufnell vs. Bob Minor; Paul Crawford vs. Francis Selling; Tony Weber vs. Lawrence Aldrich; Francis Selling vs. Wayne Tufnell.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother who died five years ago, January 25, 1946.

Five years of silent sorrow
Five years of grief and pain
Our hearts are sad and lonely,
Since you went to your new home.

You left us so very quickly
God called and you had to go,
You could not even say good-bye,
And dear we miss you so.

We often sit and think of you
And talk of how you died,
You were always so kind and thoughtful,
So cheerful, steadfast, and true.

Friends may think we have forgotten
Whenever they see us smile,
But they little know the heartache

That our smiles are hiding all the while.

We miss you here, we miss you there,
Dear Clifford, we miss you everywhere,
Your loving smile, your loving face.

No one can fill your vacant place,
And when we sit and think of you

Our hearts are filled with pain,
For all of us you did your best,
God grant you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by
His parents, Mr. and Mrs.
William Rice, Brothers and Sisters.

Fesler Tosses Bombshell; Accepts Minnesota Football Coaching Job

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—Wes Fesler, who only six weeks ago said he was finished with big time football today is football coach at Minnesota.

The man who quit as coach at Ohio State last month summed it all up with one sentence: "You can't take 19 years of experience and what-not and throw them out the window."

Fesler's unexpected appointment as Gopher coach rocked Big Ten followers with surprise. He accepted a three-year contract at the annual salary of $14,000 or $1,500 more than received by Bernie Bierman, the man he succeeded.

Fesler resigned as head coach at Ohio State Dec. 9. He said his health couldn't stand the strain of trying to win every game. His team had won six Western conference games and lost three. He took a high salary job as a real estate salesman for John W. Galbreath in Columbus. Galbreath has been Ohio State's No. 1 talent agent.

The appointment was as much a surprise in Minneapolis as Fesler's intentions were a secret in Columbus. His name had not figured in the speculation over Bierman's successor though many coaches were interviewed and many names were brought forward.

Fesler took the job over the telephone. He did not meet face to face with Minnesota officials. Members of the board of regents who approved the appointment were polled by mail.

Fesler will take over at Minnesota for spring practice. He will find much to be done. The Gophers won only one conference game last season. They tied one and lost four. They also lost three non-conference games. Fesler told friends in Columbus he expected to make a quick visit to his new camp within the next two weeks.

Two other Ohio State football mentors also will come to Minnesota. Fesler said he is bringing Lyle Clark, line coach, and Dick Fisher, backfield coach, with him.

After the appointment was announced in Minneapolis, Fesler made it clear he did not apply for the job.

"They approached me a week or so ago," he said.

The 42-year-old coach said the only thing wrong with his lucrative real estate job was that "I just keep thinking about the things I had done so long and like to do so much — working with boys and football. I decided that football was my life's work."

He said he leaves Columbus with "nothing but the warmest of feelings for those wonderful people—both at the university and in the whole area."

The appointment brought favorable comment from many quarters—Big Ten coaches, sports writers, and high school coaches as well as fans who were saddened by the loss of Ohio State's 48-0 victory over the Gophers last fall.

Dr. James L. Morrill, Minnesota president, was vice president at Ohio State while Fesler was winning All America honors as a Buckeye end in 1929-30-31. Morrill expressed satisfaction with athletic director Ike Armstrong's selection of Fesler.

Fesler, who coaches the single wing like Bierman, was head coach at Ohio State from 1947 to the end of last season. Previously he served as head coach at Pittsburgh and assistant at Princeton, Connecticut, Wesleyan and Harvard. He is the sixth coach in Minnesota football history.

Hawks Win; Go To Marquette

Playing their best game of the season, the Escanaba Hawks blasted the Marquette Sentinels into a 10-5 defeat at the fairgrounds rink last night before more than 600 fans to get back on the winning trail in the NWM league.

The two teams play again tonight on Paletstra ice at Marquette.

Displaying a smooth-working offense that scored six goals in the second period and a vastly improved defense that showed plenty of mobility, the Hawks left no doubt as to their superiority last night.

The first front line of Ted and Marc Olson and Russ Hiltunen accounted for six goals and an equal number of assists. The second line of Vic Cerra, Guy Poce and Leighton Haugen clicked for three goals and four assists. The tenth score was made by defenseman Jim Ward, assisted by Haugen.

Four Goals for Marc

Marc Olson was hot, playing inspired hockey against his former mates, who included his brother, Roy, and his brother-in-law, Clarence Matt. Marc netted four goals—one each in the first and third periods and two in the second. He added two assists.

Brother Ted, who spent three stretches in the sin-bin, two of them for unnecessary roughness (including one simultaneously with brother-in-law Matt for the same offense), bulged the netting for one goal and assisted on three others.

Hiltunen got a score on a neat pass from Marc and added an assist.

Cerra Scores Twice

Cerra, playing an aggressive game, lighted the bulb twice and assisted once while Haugen and Poce each got a score. Haugen got two assists and Poce one.

Walt Bechtold and Bob Porter teamed up as an effective defensive combination with Jim Ward and Harold Sampson also relieving the strain materially on goalie Ben Artwich who has regained his old confidence. Artwich made several sensational saves.

The game was more than 17 minutes old before Ward opened the scoring on a pass from Haugen. Matt tied it up for Marquette a minute later but Marc Olson took a pass from Ted and beat Cerra into a lead as the period ended.

Roof Caves In

Marquette tied the score at 3-1 in the second period but successive goals by Cerra, Hiltunen, Ted Olson, Haugen and Marc Olson put Escanaba into a commanding lead.

Marquette's goals were scored by Roy Olson, Matt, Bob Wamborg and Julian VanOverloop.

The Hawks play Calumet here Sunday afternoon.

Packer Cagers Here Thursday

Kryhoski, Ginsberg Sign Tiger Contracts

DETROIT—First Baseman Dick Kryhoski and Catcher Joe Ginsberg today signed their 1951 Detroit Tiger contracts, bringing to 10 the number of players already in the fold.

Tiger sources said both Ginsberg and Kryhoski got a salary boost.

The colorful Green Bay Packers have shed their gridiron togs in favor of basketball uniforms and several of them will be in Escanaba Tuesday night.

They will meet the powerful Escanaba Shamrocks Tuesday night at 8:45 at the William Bonifas gym.

Leading the van will be Jug Girard, sensational punter who played a lot of basketball in high school for Marinette. Girard is widely known in Escanaba.

Other Packer stars include Fullback Ted Fritsch, Tony Canadeo, Alex Witzki and Larry Coutre. The team is managed by Tim O'Brien, flashy Green Bay basketball star who also will play.

The Shamrocks, managed by Arnold Johnson, are one of the strongest teams in the city basketball league. Headed by Tom St. Germain, St. Joseph coach, they include Tom Dufour, Bob Anderson, Warren Fisher, Ed Gauthier, Bill Rajala, John Zimmerman and Ray Hirm.

In a preliminary at 7:30, the Kessler crew, starring Don Lewis and Jim Kessler, will meet the Hermansville Silver Foxes.

Eskymo-Marquette Game Is Saturday

Escanaba high school basketball fans are reminded that the game this week against Graverath high of Marquette is Saturday night, instead of the usual Friday night.

The game brings to the junior high school one of the highest scoring high school teams in the Upper Peninsula this year. Coach Stan Sosnouski has welded together a team that has scored more than 70 points in one game, 60 in another and more than 50 in four others.

At the same time it has not forgotten defense, holding Sault Ste. Marie and Escanaba to less than 30 points and Munising to only 31.

The high point of the Marquette offense came last Friday night when it racked up 76 points against what is rated as a strong Negaunee quintet, which got 57 points of its own.

Sosnouski's team plays fire brand basketball all over the floor and is willing to trade points to get more points. His speedy crew includes Carl (Buck) Nystrom and his brother, Neil, Jim Schneider, Frank Young and Bob Redman.

Against this combination, Coach Steve Baltic will throw his hot and cold crew—and hopes they will be hot Saturday night.

A preliminary at 7 o'clock will precede the main game. Officials will be Howard Stiehm of Marinette and Fred Vescolani of Carney.

Rose Bowl Group May Lure South

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Pasadena's Tournament of Roses association may seek the support of the deep south if the Pacific coast conference votes next month to abandon its tieup with the Rose bowl football game.

Paul Zimmerman, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, said today that he has learned from "most responsible sources" that there is a grave danger that the PCC will quit the new year's classic.

He said that four northwest members of the conference—Idaho, Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State—were in favor of junking the Rose bowl pact at a PCC meeting in Riverside, Calif., earlier this month. California, too, is "cold" on the game, Zimmerman added, and UCLA and Stanford are likely to support Cal. Washington, he said, his sources inform him, may support the California schools. Southern California favors continued support of the Rose bowl.

Rube Samuelson, sports editor of the Pasadena Star-News, said the tournament committee is "most optimistic that it will continue in partnership with the Pacific coast conference."

He added that the committee has explored the consequences of the PCC withdrawal, that it sent emissaries to the NCAA meeting in Dallas, sounded out representatives of various southern schools and received ample assurance that they are interested, as always, in the Rose bowl game.

From 1926, when Alabama's Crimson Tide made the first of six appearances in the Rose bowl, the south sent 13 representatives to Pasadena—Georgia Tech, Tulane, Duke, Tennessee and Georgia among them.

Zimmerman said a decision of the PCC to abandon the Rose bowl game "would make a laughing stock out of western football... and the PCC would be accused, and rightly so, of not being able to take it, since it dropped five of five games in the bowl to the Big Ten."

Samuelson said that if the PCC should decide to pull out "it might, within a short time, fully realize what it had for so many years... and it is conceivable that with the spread of television, this game may eventually become a million dollar attraction."

Hoosiers Burn Opponents Into Defeat With Speed

CHICAGO — (AP) — Indiana's Big Ten-leading basketball team has hit the conference campaign running full speed and it hasn't stopped yet.

All this legwork has given the Hoosiers the only undefeated record in the league and five straight victories. They haven't been particularly extended by any conference opponent. Ohio State, a team they beat 77-62 in their first conference start, came as close as any in a return game last Monday. The score was 69-59.

Indiana beat second-rated Illinois by 11 points, 64-53, conquered Michigan State 47-37 and Purdue 77-56.

The Indiana team lacks the great height which has become a trademark of the game. The Hoosiers are just average size.

Conference statistics show Indiana has only one of the league's top ten scorers—fifth-rated center Bill Garrett who is averaging 15.8 points a game.

Offensively the Hoosiers as a team rate only third in the conference. They have scored an average 66.8 points a game. They're second in defense, having allowed an average 53.4 points a game.

But they're in the top spot and one of the reasons, say observers, is that Coach Branch McCracken has taught his boys to run hard every minute of every game.

In possession of the ball, the Hoosiers take off immediately for the backboard. They run and shoot, drive in aggressively on followings, keep the ball, and themselves, moving constantly.

On defense, they pester the ball handlers with "gang up" tactics, break up plays with a ragging guarding game, press the opposition to hurry itself.

This run-and-gun style wears down opposing teams. But it also fatigues the Hoosiers. McCracken apparently has solved this problem for Indiana by relying on a sort-of platoon system.

ON COURSE FIGURE — Gloria Pall demonstrated an unorthodox wheel-side manner in a 42-foot cabin cruiser at New York's Motor Boat Show. Navigators work with figures, too.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—(AP)—The University of Iowa promised a statement today in its investigation of one or two basketball players who may be "mildly involved" with a reported parlay card ring.

Paul Brechler, Iowa, athletic director, said last night an inquiry was being made into a possible link between Iowa players and a reported Davenport, Iowa, parlay card organization.

He said one or two players may be "mildly involved." He declined to name them.

It was believed, he said, that the players may have taken parlay cards to Davenport and left them for distribution.

"We have reason to believe the players did not share in the profits or hand out the cards themselves," Brechler said.

Game To Decide All Star Foes

Tonight's city league basketball game between Shamrocks and Andys may have a bearing on what team will represent the league against the All-Stars on Feb. 1.

If the Shamrocks lose tonight, Kesslers will get the call. If however, the Shamrocks beat Andys, they will tie with Kesslers and there will have to be some method of determining the All-Star foes.

Tonight's game at 8:30 will be preceded by the Harnischfeger-Cloverland college game at 7:30 and the Groos Drug-McNess tilt at 6:30.

Bratton Kayoes Dykes In First

CHICAGO—(AP)—Johnny Bratton exploded right hand bombs to score a technical knockout over Bobby Dykes, Miami, Fla., in 2:23 of the first round in the Chicago Stadium last night. Now he will meet Cuba's Kid Gavilan in an eight round elimination to set up a challenger for Ray "Sugar" Robinson, world's 147-pound champion. The match will be in the Stadium March 14.

A small crowd of 3,874 was stunned as Bratton felled the rangy Dykes three times in scoring his third consecutive knockout. It was the first time Dykes had been knocked out in 53 fights.

Chuck Davey, former Michigan State boxing star, won his 15th consecutive victory in pro rings with a three-round knockout of Willard Coffey of Huntington, W. Va.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

WESTERN NOSED OUT

CHICAGO — (AP) — Western Michigan's last half rally wasn't quite enough and the Broncos lost a hard fought basketball game to Loyola university last night. Loyola edged the Broncos 50-48. The victory broke a six game losing streak for Loyola. It was the Broncos' fourth loss in 13 starts.

Crisler, Brown 'Out' At USC

President Scotches Talk About Two

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The University of Southern California is still without a football coach but Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns and Fritz Crisler of Michigan have been eliminated from consideration.

Dr. Fred C. Fagg, jr., president of USC, said that in fairness to Crisler and Brown and to "preclude embarrassment to them through further speculative use of their names, they are no longer under consideration for the position."

Dr. Fagg did not say who is being considered, but some sports writers took his statement to mean that the field has been narrowed to Don Faurot of Missouri and Bowden Wyatt of Wyoming.

Willis O. Hunter, director of athletics at USC, was not empowered to sign Brown, it was learned, although alumni pressure was exerted upon him to negotiate with Brown and Crisler.

Braven Dyer of the Times says that USC couldn't get Crisler "for reasons which are apparent to all who have been close to intercollegiate football for any length of time. Crisler is very happy where he is."

Rotary Bowlers Set New Record

Knocking down 900 pins in one game and 2,567 in the match the Rotarians set a new high in those two events for the year in the league last night. But, despite their sparkling work, the Rotarians currently are tied for last place in the Delta league.

Delta League standings:

Team	Pins
Eagles	14
Bark River Culvert	11
Bark River Lions	9
Kiwanis	8
Delta Hardware	7
Kiwanis 2	5
Rotary	5
J. C. Penney	5
HTM-Rotary	2567
900: H. M. Lawrence, Beauchamp, 540; H. G. Bill Berglund, 223.
High averages — Lawrence Beauchamp 174, Mel Nyquist 168, Lyle Smith 160, Don Nyquist 160, Ed Rudness 156.

Umpire Bill Klem Is Critically Ill

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—William J. (Bill) Klem, veteran National league umpire, is in "critical" condition at his Venetian Island home.

The "old arbitrator," who will be 77 years old Feb. 22, has been suffering from a heart and kidney ailment more than a year. He has been confined to his bed for three months.

NEGRO SCOUT SIGNED

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics have announced the signing of Judy Johnson of Marshallton, Del., as a scout. He was a star third baseman with the old Hilldale team of the National Negro league.

Western Air Defense Ready For Emergency

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—What's to prevent an enemy from blasting the western United States by air? From an audacious mass raid by long-range bombers? Or from a desperate sneak attack by a single plane—laying atomic eggs?

Maj. Gen. Hugo P. Rush has an answer. Rush is a 50-year-old veteran of World War II bombing campaigns in North Africa and Italy. Now his job is commander of the Western Air Defense Force (WADF) with headquarters at Hamilton Air Force base, near San Francisco.

Rush's assignment includes defense of everything west of the 103rd meridian, from the east side of the Rockies to the Pacific coast. That means California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Montana, Wyoming, most of Colorado and New Mexico and a sliver of North and South Dakota and Texas.

Spotters And Radar
Over the Western Air Defense Force, as part of additional emphasis on air defense, is the air defense command with headquarters at Colorado Springs and with responsibility for the entire nation. Also under the new command, and comparable to WADF, is the Eastern Air Defense Force.

For its protection job, WADF has a network of radar installations and volunteer civilian ground observers to spot aircraft—plus jet fighters ready 24 hours a day to investigate unidentified planes. With these tools are combined the help of the Army and the Navy and cooperation from Canada and Mexico.

Within a matter of days, the west's air defenses will be given a dry run. Rush said a vast 11-state maneuver—the biggest of its kind in the west—will begin

Switch In Crops Improving Soil

DELTA, Utah—(AP)—Heavy alkali soils in Utah are being made more productive by a switch in crops. In the Delta area, the soils have poor drainage and the salt content of irrigation water is high. Yields fall off as the salt increases and the ground becomes hard and crusty.

Despite good seeding practices, roots of the important alfalfa crop here become shallow. More frequent irrigation is needed. Some farmers experimented with wheat-grass and found that this plant sends countless roots down into the tight, salty subsoils. The roots loosen or break up the ground, permitting better movement of water so that high concentrations of salts can be leached out.

Tall wheatgrass can be grown for seed, pasture or hay. Its decaying roots add organic matter to the soil. Or the plants may be plowed under to further loosen and fertilize the soil. It is reported that wheatgrass will also grow on non-irrigated areas and that near Tooele, Utah, it was used to overcome dust bowl conditions.

Waiter Is Stumped By Water Request

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Judge Joe Montague of Fort Worth, attorney for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, stumped a European-born waiter in the Mayflower Hotel here. Speaking with a pronounced accent, the waiter leaned over the Texan and asked what he would have in his glass.

"Just some plain windmill water," replied the judge. "Sir, we have soda water and many kinds of special waters, but I don't believe we have that brand you say. What you call it, windmill water?"

Why Thousands say "FEEL FINE, thanks To Dr. Peter's KURIKO"

When you feel out of sorts, nervous and suffer from headaches, gas, bloating, indigestion and lack of appetite, you may all be due to constipation—get prompt, pleasant relief with Dr. Peter's KURIKO, the time-proven laxative and stomachic-tonic. Its amazing effectiveness is due to a scientific formula which combines 18 (not just one or two) of nature's medicinal herbs, roots and botanicals—a secret formula perfected over a period of 50 years. Gently and smoothly KURIKO puts sluggish bowels to work and aids them to eliminate clinging waste matter; helps expel constipation's gas, gives the stomach that comforting feeling of warmth. Be wise—for prompt, proven pleasant relief from constipation's miseries—get Dr. Peter's KURIKO today in your neighborhood.

about February 1. The maneuver will involve all elements of the air defense system.

Rush's men must know everything about every aircraft that flies over or near the west. WADF must identify positively every aircraft—whether it flies singly or as part of a group. And the WADF pilots must be prepared to destroy any plane proved hostile. They fly with loaded guns.

Identification Big Task

Here's how Rush summed up the job of WADF:

"In general, our mission adds up to detection, identification, interception, destruction."

For the detection part of the mission, the Air Force relies mainly upon a radar network.

Nearly two years ago the Air Force began selecting sites for the radar installations. When the permanent perimeter system is finished the west will have an electronic shield against air attack. But it cannot positively identify it, particularly as to whether it is friendly or hostile. So the WADF runs into one of its biggest jobs—identification.

For this, help comes from the civil aeronautics authority and the military flight service. These two organizations control most of the flights within the United States. For these flights, pilots are required to file flight plans, and they are supposed to follow them.

Every day, however, there are hundreds of so-called random flights—by private pilots not using flight plans by other pilots failing to follow their plans, and so on. It is WADF's task to intercept or identify such flights.

Cost Comes High
To do this, WADF has established radar stations and ground control intercept stations. To the latter—called GCI stations—the radar stations report every flight they detect. The CAA and the military flight service also report all registered flights under their control.

Each registered flight is plotted on a map by the GCI station. So are the reports from the radar stations—and from ground observer posts manned by civilian volunteers. This civilian system supplements the radar net and fills in any possible blind spots.

How about the cost?
"It isn't cheap," said Rush. He cited the heavy cost of radar equipment, communications, aircraft, installations, maintenance and so on; as well as the outlay for training and personnel.

Rush pointed out it will take more than congressional appropriations to complete the perimeter air defense system. More personnel must be trained and more radar stations installed.

CAT AWARDED HERO'S MEDAL—Reporter Richard Gibbons, of the Battle Creek Enquirer and News, presents a medal for heroism to Pee Wee, a tiger tom cat, while Claude Shive, the cat's proud master, holds a certificate which accompanied the award. Pee Wee's frantic cries awakened Mr. Shive as fire swept through a double frame house in Battle Creek, which the Shives share with seven members of the William Miller family. All escaped safely. Pee Wee's "Puss'n Boots Bronze Award" from a national cat association cited his "heroic action demonstrating the traditional role of the cat as man's friend, loyal companion and vigilant guardian."

Groucho Acclaimed No. 1 TV Personality

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Groucho Marx is the outstanding television personality of 1950 in the view of the academy of television arts and sciences.

The academy handed out its gold-plated "Emmy" statuettes—TV equivalent of the movie Oscar—at its third annual banquet. Best actress and actor awards went to Gertrude Berg (Molly Goudberg) and Alan Young.

Runners up were: best actor, Charles Ruggles; best actress, Imogene Coca; outstanding personality, Sid Caesar.

Marx admitted in his acceptance speech that he deserved the outstanding personality award. "I've been a good father to all my children and a good husband to all my wives."

State Conservation Stew Bubbles Again

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING—(AP)—The biennial stew over appointments to the state conservation commission is beginning to bubble.

Governor Williams is due to fill two vacancies which occur on April 1 when the six-year terms of Chairman Joseph P. Rahilly of Newberry and Commissioner Donald B. McLouth of Detroit expire.

Already the candidates, especially for McLouth's spot, are beginning to pile up.

Chances Slim

McLouth, a wealthy steel manufacturer and distributor, was appointed to his first term in 1945 by former governor Harry F. Kelly. He has made a good commissioner on the whole, though he has been accused of sometimes being pretty haughty towards the opinions of others. He served as chairman of the commission in 1947 and 1948.

But his chances of reappointment are pretty slim.

He is a die-hard wool Republican and reportedly was a heavy contributor to the election campaign of Kelly last fall. So Democratic Williams is highly unlikely to give him as much as a second thought.

There is a movement among a few Democrats, however, to persuade Williams to reappoint him, but lookers-on give the movement little chance to succeed.

Rahilly, a Democrat, is reportedly at the center of this movement.

Prominently mentioned candidates for the appointment include Victor C. Beresford of River Rouge and Hy Dahlika of Gibraltar.

Beresford, secretary of the Wayne County Sportsmen's club, was appointed to the water resources commission by Williams in 1949, but along with most other Williams' appointments, was never confirmed by the Senate.

Finally acting after the long delay, the Senate refused to confirm Beresford this week. This makes it more unlikely that Williams will try to get confirmation of him as a conservation commissioner.

Dahlika, former president of the Michigan United Conservation clubs, is a prominent conservationist and outdoorsman.

The McLouth vacancy will in all probability be filled from Wayne county on the traditional but legally unnecessary distribution of commissionerships throughout the state.

Rahilly's vacancy, likewise, will probably be filled from the Upper Peninsula.

Rahilly is the veteran of the commission, having served since 1934 when he was appointed to fill a vacancy by former governor William A. Comstock, a Democrat. He was reappointed by Republican former governors Luren D. Dickinson and Kelly.

Considered a valuable man on the commission, Rahilly is being urged by most sportsmen's groups to accept reappointment. He has not committed himself, however, leading to speculation that he is toying with the idea of retirement.

About the only serious candidate otherwise mentioned for the Rahilly vacancy is C. A. "Frenchy" Paquin, now of Sault Ste. Marie, former director of the education division of the conservation department.

Paquin resigned from the department in 1948 to run a resort near Otsego lake which later went out of business. He is now operating a tavern in Sault Ste. Marie.

There are reports that Paquin will not be a candidate if Rahilly is in the running.

Housing Shortage Closes School

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Six hundred students from a private English school here are in search of new quarters to continue their education, because housing shortage has hit the government of Singapore, too.

The Royal English School, owned by the government, was rented out, and now the government wants to house the National Registration Centre in the building.

The school authorities have not been successful in finding any other accommodation to house their pupils.
